

Who Do They Think They Are?

By

Reverend Fuzzy

Looks like it's that part of the millennium again, when this zealot or the other is going to start into specifying a date and time when the rapture is going to take place. This time, it's started off with some group of scientific types, trying to tell us that the world is going to end on December 21st, 2012. And what did they base this revelation on? The fact that the Myan calendar ends on that date. I guess they didn't Take into account, the possibility that the Myans just didn't see a use for a longer calendar. Just remember that not too very long ago, people made real-time clocks to go into computers, never thinking they'd ever need more than 2 digits to represent the year...result: the infamous Y2K scare. And of course, the most recent unpleasantness with Harold Camping of The Family Radio Network. He made claim that the rapture was going to happen on May 21st, 2011 after "doing much scripture study". Odd that he made the same claim back in 1994, and now he's claiming more "mathematical errors" are now placing the end on yet another date. It's now blatantly apparent that Harold had missed one really important bit of scripture...

Matthew 24:36 – 24:42 (KJV)

36 "But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, but My Father only."

37 "But as the days of Noah were, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be."

38 "For as in the days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark,"

39 "and did not know until the flood came and took them all away, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be."

40 "Then two men will be in the field: one will be taken and the other left."

41 "Two women will be grinding at the mill: one will be taken and the other left."

42 "Watch therefore, for you do not know what hour your Lord is coming."

What this tells us, is that we can study all we want, do all the calculations we want, and even make any number of educated guesses that we deem necessary, but every single solitary inference is going to fall short of an accurate prediction. So who are these people, that they should make an attempt at gaining God's secrets? Not an intelligent person, I can tell you that much.
